"You got me back into singing and I love it! NTC weekends are such a joy to be part of — fabulous repertoire, amazing places to sing, plenty of smiles and laughter."

The National Teachers' Choir was founded in 2015, and runs termly weekends across the UK so that anyone involved in teaching can immerse themselves in the joy of singing and learn and perform new songs to a high standard, whatever their ability or experience. The choir has performed at venues including Symphony Hall Birmingham, Snape Maltings Aldeburgh, Sage Gateshead and The London Coliseum. Teachers can sign up for a single weekend (£99) or take a year's membership for 3 weekends (£240). More details at www.nationalteacherschoir.org.uk
